

Wyoming Early Childhood Behavioral Consultant (WYECBC) Program

WYECBC is a free program—provided by a preschool development grant¹ and administered by Magellan Healthcare—for early childhood educators in Wyoming’s Laramie and Natrona counties.

Early childhood behavioral consultation

Through the WYECBC program, our consultants work directly with teachers, staff and parents to provide the necessary training, education and resources to help ensure the needs of young children are identified and addressed so they succeed socially, emotionally and academically.

Program features:

- Access to quality mental health support
- Coordination of services
- Ongoing follow-up relationship for as long as needed

WYECBC consultants:

- Have experience in child development and evidenced-based interventions that support children, their educators, caregivers and families
- Use a team approach to develop individualized interventions specific to the child in need or program where they are being served

WYECBC program goals

For young children:

- Increased social skill development
- Improvements in learning abilities and school performance
- Reduced difficult classroom behaviors
- Reduced expulsions and academic interruptions

For educators, parents and guardians:

- Increased understanding of emotional development and needs of young children
- Reduced burnout
- Development of a local support network

¹ This project is supported by the Preschool Development Grant Birth through Five (PDG B-5), Grant Number 90TP0082, from the Office of Child Care, Administration for Children and Families, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.
